African Psalm is a free adaptation of a folk song from Kenya with a new text adapted from the Psalms by Patrick M. Liebergen. It is inspired by the African traditions of call and response and improvising layered textures. Call and response is evident in mm. 12-19, 20-28 and 44-51, in which the soloist or section sings a musical idea and the choir responds. The layering of the choral texture by section (bass first, followed by soprano, alto, and tenor respectively) occurs in mm. 60-75, creating an improvisational effect.

Additional layering effects are created by the addition of both flute and percussion instruments (optional). A flute part is included in the choral score (please see p. 12). One or more percussion instruments may be improvised freely. A full performance/accompaniment cassette (available separately, No. 11879) employs four percussion instruments, alternating full sections of percussion writing with solo sections that gradually thicken through the "layering in" of additional instruments. The rhythms played by each instrument are simple 1-measure repeated patterns, as follows:

The introduction (mm. 1-7) is intended to be sung unaccompanied, slowly and very freely. Directors may wish to assign this section to a solo voice or small vocal ensemble. It may also be performed by keyboard only, or omitted entirely, beginning the performance at m. 8. In mm. 60-78, the basses should pronounce the traditional African syllable "Io" as "Yo."

In rehearsal, strive for precise diction and a light but intensive choral tone. Caution the choir against singing too loudly or heavily, which will result in sloppy rhythms and poor intonation. Beginning at m. 8, practice the anthem on staccato "doo" until rhythmic precision is achieved. In performance, sing with a legato articulation imbued with all of the energy of the staccato.

African Psalm is intended for performance by both school and church choirs. Appropriate for worship throughout the general church year, at Ascension, Eastertide and Christ the King Sunday, it may be coordinated with the following lectionary readings: Exodus 15: 1-2. Psalms 96, 98 and 100, Isaiah 12 and John 1: 1-14. One basic homiletical theme is singing joyful songs of praise to the God of all nations whose power and glory are boundless.

Patrick M. Liet ergen is Director of Choral Activities at the University of Wisconsin (Stout) and Director of the Chancel Choir at United Methodist Church, Menomonie, Wisconsin. With music degrees from St. Norbert College in DePere, Wisconsin, the University of Wisconsin (Madison), and the University of Colorado (Boulder), Dr. Liebergen frequently appears throughout the country as an adjudicator and clinician. His choral editions, arrangements and original works are widely published. Dr. Liebergen was the 1988 winner of the Wisconsin Choral Directors Association Composition Competition and the 1990 winner of the Anthem Contest sponsored by the Twin Cities Church Musicians Association.

AFRICAN PSALM

for S.A.T.B. voices, accompanied,* with optional flute and percussion **

Words adapted from the Psalms by PATRICK M. LIEBERGEN

Arranged from a Kenyan folksong by PATRICK M. LIEBERGEN

- * Also available for S.A.B., Level Three (16025), 2-part, Level Two (16026), and Unison or 2-part, Level One (23743). A full performance/accompaniment InstruTrax CD is available separately (11879).
- Flute part may be found on page 12. Percussion may be freely improvised (please see the performance notes).
- † Mm. 1-7 may be performed very freely by either an accompanist alone or by an unaccompanied soloist or choir.

Copyright © MCMXCVI by Alfred Publishing Co., Inc. All rights reserved. Printed in USA.

FLUTE

Arranged from a Kenyan folksong by PATRICK M. LIEBERGEN

*Mm. 1-7 may be performed very freely and unaccompanied by choir, soloist or accompanist.

Copyright © MCMXCVI, MMV, by Alfred Publishing Co., Inc. All Rights Reserved. Printed in USA.

THE CCLI LICENSE DOES NOT GRANT PERMISSION TO PHOTOCOPY THIS MUSIC.

